

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

PORTLAND, ORE. (June 12, 2014) – Port Begins Troutdale Airport Master Planning Process

The Port of Portland is embarking on a two-year master planning process for the Troutdale Airport. This study will assist the Port in determining what role the 278-acre airport will play in meeting the Port's mission.

The project will provide a better understanding of the complex relationship between aviation uses at Troutdale Airport and other nearby airports (especially Portland International) and the surrounding land uses, both current and projected.

The first committee meeting of the project, "Troutdale Airport: Shaping Our Future", is from 5:30-8:30 p.m. on Tuesday, June 17 at McMenamins Edgefield Ballroom, 2126 SW Halsey Street. The public is invited and public comment is welcome.

The meeting will include an airport overview, an overview of the Port-owned Troutdale Reynolds Industrial Park and an overview of the master plan project's scope of work. It will also include a team-building activity for the committee members. The public comment period is scheduled to begin at 7:10 p.m.

The project committee is a 21-member planning advisory committee, which includes airport tenants, community members, and business and government representatives from Troutdale, Fairview and Gresham.

The full meeting agenda is available under "Community Events" at www.portofportland.com. Free parking is available, and the site is accessible by TriMet bus line #77. More information about the meeting is available by calling Chris White at 503.415.6056.