

Tick Tock—Where to Find the Best Last-Minute Gifts at PDX

portside.portofportland.online/2017/12/holiday-guide-shop-local-pdx/

December 11, 2017

If you still need a few more holiday gifts, you're not alone. But no need to stress—Portland International Airport has you covered. With a street pricing commitment and bounty of local products, you can wait until the last minute (even on Christmas Day) and still find the perfect gift. Check out our PDX gift guide to shop for everyone on your list.

For your Oregon-obsessed family (Photo above): Tender Loving Empire stocks everything from Oregon themed t-shirts and greetings cards to buttons and ornaments; Timberline offers Oregon craft beer and lodge-motif goods; Made in Oregon serves up local products made, caught, or grown in Oregon.

For your uncle with a sweet tooth: Quin says candy is magic and uses only top-quality ingredients. Taste it yourself at Tender Loving Empire and Made in Oregon.

For your cocktail connoisseur: Consider a gift from a leader in Portland's world-renowned maker community—House Spirits Distillery.

For your stylish mom: Keep her cozy and classic with a blanket from Pendleton.

For your welcoming committee: If you're flying, you can always surprise family waiting to pick you up with some Blue Star Donuts.

For your coffee-obsessed friend: Who doesn't love a "Slay Ride" to warm up after playing in the snow. Find it at Stumptown Coffee Roasters.

For your niece and nephew: Kids' books at Powell's Books range from brainy to entertaining; or get them hooked on one of today's best-selling young adult series.